Ah, the lob—2015's favorite
cut. True, it's a certifiable
glam machine,
flattering
nearly every face shape
and hair type.
But it's January, and pressure's on to change
things up.
Solution?
Three chic
evolutions with all the awesomeness
of the original.

WHAT LOOK OF THE MONTH

Guilty Eyes

The bronzed visage may be a summer mainstay, but this season we're craving a more modern metallic: a rose gold eye set off by copper lashes. The makeup artist Ayami Nishimura, who created the look here, used Lancôme Ombre Hypnôse Stylo Cream Eyeshadow Stick in Corail Doré for the lids and Bronze Falaise to deepen the creases. The lashes received a gilding of Lancôme Grandiose Mascara in Brun Mirifique, a shimmery brown. "Shiny and dewy eyes reflect the sunlight and make you look younger," Nishimura says. A perk as good as gold. KATIE BECKER

Apple watch. Beauty note: Hot summer days call for an ultralight hydrator like Lancôme Énergie de Vie Daily Lotion-in-Gel. For stores, prices, and more, go to Wmag.com/where-to-buy-june-2015.

The Look

On nails, "it's a sophisticated, mid-toned neutral that goes with every item of clothing and is a bit of a nod to the '70s, which is having a big moment in fashion and beauty," says New York City manicurist Geraldine Holford.

Ripe for Summer

About Face

When one feature is doused in wine, keep the others in the same color family, but more subdued. For example, "if you go with a bold wine eye, go light on the lips," says New York City makeup artist Achelle Dunaway. To soften things, use a gloss or tinted balm instead of a lipstick; on cheeks, a cream or gel blush applied with a dampened sponge instead of powder; and on eyes, skip shadow and define with a liner instead.

VINO-HUED MAKEUP HAS BEEN IN A LONG-TERM LOVE AFFAIR WITH AUTUMN. BUT FRESHER TAKES ON MARSALA, BORDEAUX, AND ZINFANDEL PROVE IT'S NOT ABOVE A WARM-WEATHER FLING. GET A TASTE AND SEE. IT'S ALWAYS WINE O'CLOCK SOMEWHERE!

Pick your polish wisely.

Many salons use nail polish thinners when their old polishes start to thicken with age. Thinners compromise both the color and integrity of the formula. If the bottle is less than three-quarters full, ask for a new one, says Park. A freshly opened bottle of polish can make your pedicure last weeks longer than an older, and potentially thinned-out, bottle. Q

FAST THINKING

It takes only seconds to choose the right polish at the salon; a wise choice can make your manicure last longer.

可以一边做家务、用电脑,一边敷面膜么?

最好避免这种护理方式。面膜最主要的功效在于放松舒缓,做家务、用电脑或其他活动都会干扰这种放松作用,还可能影响护理效果。

做面膜时最适合平躺放松,闭目养神,只需十到二十分钟,就能感觉到皮肤受到充分滋养,恢复活力。*Lancôme*的臻白凝润面膜和雪花秀的滋晶美白面膜均采用生物发酵膜设计,紧密贴合皮肤,但在敷用时仍推荐采用躺姿,更有利于吸收。

DAY TWENTY-NINE

Wave Maker Yes, you can infuse beachy texture into your stick-straight hair. Sea salt sprays coax waves from even the flattest hair. Spritz KMS California Hairplay Sea Salt Spray ($17; drugstores) liberally through wet hair, then use your fingers to create small twists as it dries.

DAY THIRTY

Glow Trick Trade your foundation for a self-tanner and feel the thrill of running out the door barefaced—but still even-toned. We like BareMinerals Gradual Glow Sunless Face Tanner ($24; bareminerals.com).

DAY THIRTY-ONE

False Positive If you want full, dark lashes all day, apply fake fringe. It takes only a few more seconds than layering mascara, and there's no need for touch-ups. Try half-strips, like Sephora Collection Flirt-It Lash Duo ($10; sephora.com), and end the month with a real eye-opener.

DAY FIVE

Brow Wow Smooth, defined brows help you look polished even on makeup-free days. A tinted gel (like Anastasia Tinted Brow Gel, $22; anastasia.net) fills in gaps and tames unruly hairs. Brush the gel up and out from the inner corners of your brows to the ends.

DAY SIX

Shimmer A-Go-Go Give your skin a subtle gleam with a shimmery moisturizing oil, like L'Occitane Pivoine Flora Illuminating Oil ($35; usa.loccitane.com). Don't go overboard—apply a light layer only on your collarbones, the tops of your shoulders, and your legs.

DAY SEVEN

Hot Lips Swap that boring brown-berry lipstick at the bottom of your purse for a coral gloss. Two creamy shades that flatter every skin tone: Benefit Ultra Plush Lip Gloss in Poutrageous! ($16; benefitcosmetics.com) and Sonia Kashuk Ultra Luxe Lip Gloss in Coveted Coral ($9; target.com).

bellezza nuovi orizzonti

oggi le indiane comprano occidentale. E si ritrovano fra le mani prodotti ispirati alle loro ricette tradizionali. Cresciute a pane e ayurveda, non si stupiscono del potere emolliente del burro di karité, né di quello antiacne della boswellia (resina), conoscono bene il profumo del gelsomino Sambac. Anziché utilizzare ogni sostanza al naturale, come in passato, scelgono prodotti industriali che le contengono: più pratici da conservare, più funzionali e (relativamente) poco costosi. Le indiane non hanno rinunciato alle regole tramandate, si limitano a filtrarle secondo la nuova visione della bellezza più global. Anche se difficilmente troveranno il tempo da dedicare alla cerimonia rituale del bagno. La tradizione vuole che nella vasca ci si immerga prima con tre tipi di olio: uno per i capelli, uno per il viso, uno per il corpo, e poi ci si sciacqui in acqua profumata. Quindi, dopo l'incipriatura da capo a piedi con una sorta di farina di ceci, si passa in un'acqua arricchita da 40 erbe. In tutto, se ne va almeno mezza mattina. Sul profumo, invece, le indiane possono continuare a osservare gli insegnamenti di madre e zie. È prevista l'applicazione di diverse sostanze per ogni zona del corpo: oli aromatici per i lobi delle orecchie e il palmo della mano, acque e ciprie profumate di muschio per gli abiti, cardamomo e cannella per la bocca. Niente henné sulle mani (è considerata una zona molto intima e la decorazione è riservata al giorno delle nozze), pelle del viso schiarita da prodotti confezionati ad hoc per il mercato indiano e sguardo profondo: l'indiana emancipata oggi si presenta così. E potrebbe insegnare a tutte l'arte di applicare il kajal: ieri un unguento anti-infezioni, un ornamento per gli uomini e persino per gli elefanti. Oggi, il cosmetico orientale più popolare al mondo. Meglio scegliere una matita-kajal, meno pastosa di quello puro: facile da sfumare e da ritoccare, sull'esempio delle giovani di Mumbai. Appena più complicata la scelta della permettici colore sulla palpebra: giallo oro, corallo o turchese? Da copiare dai film made in India.

1 FAKE HOT-ROLLER WAVES IN 25 MINUTES

You'll save About 35 minutes (a blow-dry and a full head of rollers can take a good hour)

Meticulously curling every last strand isn't the only way to transform flat hair into lush waves. "Forget the hair underneath – just pay attention to the parts that show," says backstage pro Kevin Ryan. Blow-dry while combing hair with your fingers, pull bottom layers into a ponytail to get them out of the way and blow out just the top and front sections with a round brush. While hair is still warm, wrap two-inch chunks of hair around large Velcro rollers; five should do it. Mist with hairspray, try Extra-Body Firm Finishing Spray £6.50 Paul Mitchell. Wait for ten minutes – go do your make-up – and then remove rollers. Voilà, voluptuous waves! ►

The lazy woman's guide to gorgeous hair

Hair is not a test! It's fine to cheat, take short cuts or use a sneaky trick – especially when the results look this good

BEAUTY 10

Stop Grays with a Pill! Melt Fat with a Laser!

And 12 other fantastic possibilities that might be fully realized by 2020.
BY JENNY BAILLY

Ten years ago, we were just starting to hear buzz about Botox. Lasers seemed totally sci-fi. And you probably didn't think you'd soon be using clear plastic strips to bleach your teeth at home. So what innovations will the next decade bring? Will you be tightening your skin with a wand? Not quite. But you may be erasing lines with a topical gel, or slimming your love handles in one afternoon, without a single incision. We canvassed dermatologists, plastic surgeons, dentists, and chemists about what's ahead, and found that the future is looking bright—and very beautiful. ➤

For extra glamour, create an upward tick with the liner at the outer corners.

'60s Dramatic Eyes

Beauty icons of the '60s had one thing in common—bold eye makeup. (Exhibits A through E: Twiggy, Jean Shrimpton, Sophia Loren, Edie Sedgwick, and Brigitte Bardot.) This fall's lush liquid and cream liners and volumizing mascaras are ideal for re-creating the look. After brushing a taupe shadow over the lids, trace a black liner along the upper lashline, from the inner to the outer corner. With a flat liner brush, edge the lower lashes with a dark brown shadow to balance the look of the heavy liner on top. The final, key component: major lashes. Layer on up to three coats of black mascara, or apply a full fake fringe. The rest of the face should stay neutral, with a pale pink blush and peachy-beige lip gloss. Top, Marni.

Allover
Shimmer
'70s

What can the disco era possibly bring to your current beauty routine? A hint of extra shine! The finely milled shimmers in this season's powders, glosses, and creams leave a subtle sheen, not flecks of glitter, on your cheeks, lips, and lids. Yellow golds are most flattering on dark skin; silvers and gunmetals illuminate fair complexions. Dust glimmery shadows over your lids and just under the brows (but avoid the corners of the eyes, where gleam can draw attention to lines). On your face, blend a shimmery cream or powder along the cheekbones. Whether pigmented (like the plum shade on our model) or only slightly tinted, a shiny lip gloss also brightens the complexion—and can make lips appear fuller. Dress, Halston Heritage. Earrings, Fantasy Jewelry Box. Necklace, Cathy Waterman. Bracelet, Marco Bicego. Ring, Alexis Bittar.
