A top-down view of a wooden workbench cluttered with various hand tools and measuring instruments. In the upper left, there's a large square and a smaller one. A long, thin ruler lies diagonally across the center. To its right, a set of dividers and a pencil are visible. In the lower left, a small block of wood is being worked on with a tool. A compass and a small square are also present. The tools are arranged in a somewhat haphazard manner, suggesting an active workspace.
