JENNA MENARD

tu nueva gurú del maquillaje

La nueva Global Color Artist de Clinique nos explica, en exclusiva para GLAMOUR, los secretos que deben saber todas las mujeres.

Viajamos a Londres para tener un encuentro con la maquilladora internacional Jenna Menard. Su incorporación a Clinique, una de las firmas cosméticas más importantes del mundo, supone un hito dentro de la marca americana, famosa por sus "Sistema Tres pasos" y concebida con la filosofía de que todo el mundo puede tener una buena piel. Algo que también persiguen con su maquillaje. Jenna transmite a la perfección la idea fresca y natural de Clinique.

¿Cuándo supiste que esto lo que te gustaba?
No hay un momento definido. Seguí mis intereses, pasiones y talento, y fui dirigida hacia el mundo de la belleza. Crecí rodeada de hermanas, y mi madre era peluquera; el mundo de la belleza es parte de mi vida. Estudié psicología porque quería trabajar con personas... y poco a poco me convertí en una Make Up Artist.

¿Qué cosas te inspiran?

Muchas cosas. Soy afortunada y viajo mucho alrededor del mundo, así que me obligo a mirar alrededor y absorber todos los estímulos.

¿Cuál es el truco de maquillaje que toda mujer debería saber y aplicar?

El éxito de un maquillaje es que alguien te diga lo guapa que estás sin darse cuenta de que hiciste un gran esfuerzo a la hora de maquillarte. Es conseguir un efecto natural, sutil. Las reglas hay que tomarlas de forma flexible, sólo tienes que adaptar cualquier maquillaje ►

TRUCOS PARA UNA IMAGEN PRECIOSA

 CUTIS LUMINOSO

Antes de extender la base, piensa qué acabado deseas. Para una cobertura total, usa una brocha y para un acabado más transparente, usa una esponja o los dedos. Si tienes que mezclar un iluminador con la base, hazlos imperceptibles para lograr el efecto: "es mi preciosa piel y no mi iluminador y base". Aplica la base Even Better con una esponja y sobre él, pon el iluminador Up-Lighting Liquid Illuminator. Por último, extiende los polvos sueltos Stay Matte Sheer Pressed Powder, sólo alrededor de la nariz y la zona T.

 OJOS DE COLOR

Perfila los ojos con eyeliner y encima difumina capas de sombras para dar dimensión. Utiliza sombras de colores mejor que negro.

 BOCAS JUGOSAS

Para unos labios siempre perfectos, usa un pincel y repasa bien la línea del labio. Para un resultado fresh, difumina los extremos.

Jenna Menard ha realizado maquillajes de tendencia como el del desfile de Karen Walker.

INSTANT CHEEKBONES

Fake it, fast: The quest for perfect bone structure ends here. By Jessica Prince

CONTOUR MAKEUP is back, big-time. (Think Gucci Girls, not Rocky Horror.) Highlighting and shading "can take years off your face and give you structure that's not actually there," says makeup artist Sonia Kashuk. While the look may seem intimidating, "keep it simple with three products," adds Clinique Global Colour Artist Jenna Menard: a sculpting product or bronzer, blush, and highlighter. Apply foundation, then follow these steps.

ASSEMBLE YOUR KIT The goal is to emulate your skin's natural tones so your results look "as real as possible," says Kashuk. For the deepest "shading" color, you'll need a sculpting product or a matte bronzer two shades darker than your skin (nothing orange-based or shimmery). Use your favorite rosy blush, then choose a pearlized silver or gold highlighter. Keep the textures consistent throughout.

BLEND, BLEND, BLEND Step 1: Dip an angled brush in your sculpting shade, suck in your cheeks, and blend the product down the sunken line in an up-and-down motion. Stop an inch from your mouth. Step 2: Using a circular motion, diffuse the blush on just the apples of your cheeks. Step 3: Highlight the uppermost point of your cheeks with Menard's trick: Place a finger below your brow bone near the outer corner of your eye and move it down until you feel your cheekbone—that's where you'll apply highlighter. Soften it until all harsh lines have disappeared.

GOODBYE, JOWLS For those over age 50, the focus should shift from your cheekbones (they hollow out naturally over time) to defining your jaw. Dust bronzer under your jawline, and blur the edges into your neck. ■ de forma que embellezca tus labios, el tono de tu piel y la forma de tus ojos.

¿Qué tendencia de maquillaje veremos en otoño/invierno 2012-13?

Grandes pestañas, cejas más pobladas y tonos tierra profundos. Algo sofisticado a la vez que bastante natural.

¿Tu primer recuerdo de maquillaje?

¡El maquillaje de Clinique! Mi madre lo usaba, de hecho lo sigue haciendo y me acuerdo muy bien de la cajita verde...

Más tarde, de adolescente, empecé mezclando polvos para crear sombras y colores que creía me iban mejor. ¡Curiosamente, mezclaba polvos Clinique!

¿Qué aspecto de tu trabajo prefieres?

Ya sea en un shooting, un show o con una famosa, trabajo con personas muy creativas que me enriquecen. Y tengo la oportunidad de viajar por el mundo. Y ahora con Clinique llego a las mujeres de forma global, con contenido digital que llega a todo el mundo...

¿Cuál ha sido el mayor avance en maquillaje desde que empezaste?

Los productos hoy hacen mucho más que crear diferentes looks; aportan beneficios además de sus colores. Clinique en concreto es capaz de crear productos fáciles de usar gracias a un packaging innovador y sus ingredientes permiten que el maquillaje permanezca más tiempo intacto al mismo tiempo que ofrece beneficios para la piel. ⑥

ВИД СВЕРХУ

Арт-директор Clinique, Джenna Менард прогулилась с Юлией Кудрявцевой по Нью-Йорку и доказала, что жизнь в шумном мегаполисе может быть очень комфортной.

На самом деле Джenna переехала в Нью-Йорк из Пенсильвании не так давно. Однако этот город манил ее с самого детства. «Я с нетерпением ждала каждое Рождество, ведь именно в это время родители сажали меня в машину, и через каких-нибудь два часа мы оказывались в самом сердце Нью-Йорка», — рассказывает она. — Праздничная иллюминация, красивые люди, модные рестораны и, конечно, мюзиклы, которые мы каждый раз посещали. Бродвейские шоу были едва ли не самым ярким впечатлением детства». С момента переезда в Нью-Йорк Джenna больше ни разу не была на мюзиклах, да и другие «туристические»

Какой оттенок помады выбрать и чем подводить глаза? Об основных тенденциях весеннего макияжа GRAZIA узнала непосредственно у их создателей!
Текст: Наташа Богданкевич,

Растисали В КРАСКАХ

ГЛАВНОЕ ПРАВИЛО сезона – больше цвета, и это естественно, ведь все устало от серых зимних красок! Яркие губы, свежий румянец и много туши – моя любимая комбинация. Для показа Karen Walker я взяла насыщенную розовую помаду, поверх которой положила тонким слоем перламутровые тени, чтобы добиться матового эффекта. Образ получился немного футуристическим – как раз то, чего хотела Карен. А недавно на одной съемке я сделала насыщенно-синюю графичную подводку – тоже отличная идея для весны!

■ Красные губы также актуальны – несколько подходящих оттенков можно найти в коллекции Chubby Stick Intense. По сравнению с классической версией эти бальзамы обеспечивают более интенсивное покрытие. Я наносю их прямо из тюбика – в отличие от помады, для которой обычно беру кисточку.

■ Несмотря на обилие ярких цветов, темная подводка не сдает позиций. Мне нравится не только классическая черная, как на показе Karen Walker, – сливовая, лиловая или фиолетовая отлично подходит для дымчатого макияжа! Результат получается гораздо интереснее, чем при использовании традиционного серого.

■ Объемные ресницы хороши всегда, а потому без туши с большой щеточкой – как, например, у новинки High Impact Extreme Volume Mascara – не обойтись. Можно ограничиться одним-двумя слоями, но для действительно заметного результата понадобится четыре-пять. Как-то я посчитала, сколько движений делаю при нанесении, – оказалось, не меньше пятидесяти! И не забудьте: если главный акцент в образе будет сделан на глазах, то обязательно нужно прокрасить не только верхние, но и нижние ресницы.

■ Румяна оживляют любой макияж и позволяют добиться свежего вида лица – будто вы только что вернулись с прогулки. Идеальный оттенок для весны – насыщенный розовый. И не стоит бояться с ним переборщить!

BEAUTY

Jenna's ADDICTION

Freshly anointed Clinique global colour artist Jenna Menard talks bright hues, camera-ready tricks and latest lip loves. BY EUGENIE KELLY

Jenna Menard didn't know it at the time, but the local housewives who flocked to her mother's hair salon in the basement of her Pennsylvania childhood home would end up having a say in her career path. The memory of the effect their transformations had on their moods as they left proved so persistent that after graduating from the prestigious Lafayette College with a bachelor of arts in psychology, she put her studies to good use (not) with an internship on a film set.

Right now Menard's mother is probably wishing she didn't complain so much about that radical career choice: Menard has scored perhaps the most coveted gig in beautyland, the newly created position of global colour artist for Clinique.

So how did she get here? "Years ago back in college, a friend knew [Academy Award-winning costume designer] Ann Roth, so gave me her number, and I just called her up," she recalls, now somewhat bemused by her balmy behaviour. "I went to Roth's house for a chat, and followed her around while she did chores, while she asked really pointed questions. Now I know she was testing me to see if I just wanted to play with makeup, or actually learn about what makeup can really do."

An internship on the set of 2004's The Stepford Wives remake followed under the guidance of movie-makeup maestro Bernadette Mazur and, although the experience was priceless, everyone said Menard was more suited to the world of fashion. Cue pulling together a portfolio and landing a coveted gig assisting runway-makeup legend Dick Page — an amazing career opportunity she blithely drops into the conversation.

Olive-skinned Menard is all ebullient eyes, balayage sun-kissed streaks and sunny smile; a girl-next-door beauty type, albeit one with a penchant for Helmut Lang and Alexander Wang, an artfully dimpled bun held together with a single hairpin ("the secret to no dent"), and a seductive smoky eye. As for her makeup style — the trademark look that has stars such as Kate Winslet, Rachel Weisz and Emily Blunt regularly booking her for red-carpet appearances and cover shoots — she gravitates towards taupes and a tendency to "stay on the natural side and work in little pops of colour".

Menard finds inspiration in simple things, posting graphic Instagram shots of a container of clear plastic thumbtacks and seeing charm in chalk paint, coloured chalk and bright Sharpie pens. "And I loved the film The Artist," she says. "Seeing the actors' makeup in black and white — it was so crisp. I can't help but be drawn to the simplicity."

"Pay attention to the light in which you apply your makeup. Daylight is always a safe bet, because it's unforgiving."

Her love of the pared-back is even more obvious when you peek at her personal makeup bag: two shades of foundation, three mascaras to see how they layer, two eyeliners — a natural brown and a creamy shimmer one — "I love bright blush and either wear a lipstick like Clinique's Red Red Red or Runway Coral," she says. The latter is a limited edition she pestered Clinique into producing, after mixing up the covetable zingy orange-red for Karen Walker's recent S/S 2012 show.

As for her can't-live-without-it staple? "A nude Chubby. I used one particular shade [Heaping Hazelnut] last fashion week — it's out soon and is going to be a big one. Makeup artists use concealer to cancel out the models' natural lip shade before applying a nude lip colour, but this can dry lips out. The Chubby is moisturising, so you not only get a gorgeous nude lip, but a healthy-looking one."

Chubbies, for the uninitiated, are Clinique's iconic nourishing lip balms that come in the form of a twist-up pencil reminiscent of kindergarten days. Although it's a solid texture, it glides on, delivering a tint of colour that's easy to build, and a hint of sheen. Blockbuster sales since their relaunch last year (a heavier lipstick-like version made its debut in 1997) means another dimension will be added to the Chubby Stick line in a few months: Chubby Stick Shadow Tint for Eyes. Expect super-blendable shades in beiges, browns, light blue, pale pink and green, all seriously one-step. "The thickness of the tip is great for that undone, one-swipe look," she says.

Menard's film background and work prepping actors for television means she's a whiz at dealing with cameras, a modern reality we now all confront since Facebook, Instagram and Twitter have taken over our lives. "Pay attention to shine more than you normally would," she advises. "Really press the powder in over your foundation rather than fluffing it around with a brush. And pay attention to where the light is coming in from — it picks up on everything."

Other tricks? "Using a lighter shadow in the middle of your eye. When you put your mascara on, your eyes really pop and your eyelashes stand out. And pay attention to the light in which you apply your makeup. Daylight is always a safe bet, because it's unforgiving."

With Menard's input into the hundreds of products in development and a stream of clever launches ahead (the new miracle-performing Even Better Concealer, in 12 shades, is just a taste), Clinique makeup clearly has its mojo back. A fact Janet Pardo, Clinique's senior vice-president of global product development, puts down to their new-found ability to "create something for a woman that she doesn't know she wants, but when she has it, she's hooked. That's what Chubby is — it's fun, it's playful, it makes you smile."

Happy days.

MISSION
„Mir ist es wichtig, Frauen dabei zu unterstützen, etwas Neues auszuprobieren und ihre natürliche Schönheit zu perfektionieren“, so Jenna Menard.

MAIFARBEN
Opportune Farben, intensive Pflege und eine cremige Textur zeichnen die wunderbar unkomplizierten „Chubby Sticks“ von Clinique aus.

1ST FABULOUS

Im Reich der Farben

JENNA MENARD gehört zu den besten Make-up-Artists der Welt und ist Chef-Visagistin von Clinique. FIRST verrät die Amerikanerin, die regelmäßig Hollywoodstars schminkt, ihre Tricks für ein perfektes Make-up.

Sie ist eine der ganz Großen ihrer Zunft. Bei den internationalen Top-Magazinen wie Vogue, Elle oder Vanity Fair genießt sie weltweit einen exzellenten Ruf. Und Hollywoodstars wie Sofia Coppola, Uma Thurman oder Kate Winslet schwören auf das Farbgefühl von Jenna Menard, Chef-Visagistin bei Clinique. Schon als Kind war sie von Farben und Make-up fasziniert. Ihre Mission? Jenna Menard: „Für mich ist es wichtig, Frauen dabei zu unterstützen, etwas Neues auszuprobieren und ihre natürliche Schönheit mit den richtigen Produkten und Anwendungen zu unterstützen.“

FIRST traf die sympathische Amerikanerin zum exklusiven Interview in London und sprach mit ihr über die aktuelle Frühjahrskollektion Almost Spring von Clinique und darüber, wie man mit einfachen Tricks ein perfektes Make-up erzielt.

Worum ist Make-up für Frauen im Alltag unverzichtbar?
Jede Frau hat wahrscheinlich ihren ganz eigenen, persönlichen Bezug zu Make-up. Doch generell hilft es, uns besser und schöner zu fühlen. Denken Sie nur an sich selbst. Egal, ob Sie ein Produkt verwenden, das Ihren Teint zum Strahlen bringt, oder eines, das die Schönheit Ihrer Augen hervorhebt – Sie fühlen sich danach schöner und gleichzeitig selbstbewusster.

Wie würden Sie den Look der aktuellen Make-up-Kollektion „Almost Spring“ von Clinique beschreiben?

FAIRBEXPERTIN
Jenna Menard, „Global Colour Artist“ von Clinique, schminkt regelmäßig die Models auf den Fashion Weeks in Mailand, Paris und New York. Im exklusiven FIRST-Interview verrät sie ihre Profi-Make-up-Tipps.

Es ist ein sehr natürlicher Look, der einfach immer passt. Im Job, beim Sport, aber auch am Abend. Die Kollektion zeichnet sich durch ihre frischen Farben aus, mit denen sich jede Frau wohl fühlt.

Was ist die Basis für diesen natürlichen Look?

Das Wichtigste bei jedem Look ist die richtige Grundierung, denn sie ist das Herzstück jedes Make-ups. Deshalb sollte man sich dafür auch am meisten Zeit nehmen. Mein Tipp: Egal, ob die Grundierung mit dem Pinsel oder mit den Fingern aufgetragen wird, sie sollte gut und gleichmäßig in die Haut eingeklopft werden, sodass kein Kontrast mehr sichtbar ist. Ist die Grundierung perfekt, kann man mit dem Auftragen von Lidschatten und Mascara beginnen.

Apropos Mascara: Gibt es einen Trick, um den besten Effekt mit einer Wimperntusche zu erzielen?

Die meisten Frauen machen den Fehler, dass sie, während sie Mascara auftragen, frontal in den Spiegel schauen. Das Ergebnis ist, dass sie mehr Wimperntusche am Lid als auf den Wimpern haben. Um das zu vermeiden, braucht man nur das Kinn ein bisschen zu heben, so dass man fast hinunterblicken muss, um sich im Spiegel zu sehen. Dieser einfache Trick sorgt dafür, dass jede einzelne Wimper vom Haaransatz bis zum Ende gleichmäßig mit Mascara definiert wird, ohne diese am ganzen Auge zu verteilen.

Zu einem vollständigen Augen-Make-up gehört auch Lidschatten. Wie kann man vermeiden, dass sich dieser in den Augenfalten am Lid festsetzt?

Das passiert immer dann, wenn zu viel Lidschatten aufgetragen wird, selbst wenn es sich dabei um Produkte handelt, die eine Long-Lasting-Formel beinhalten. Es gilt hier die berühmte Regel: Weniger ist mehr. Um den Lidschatten noch haltbarer zu machen, gebe ich zum Abschluss gerne noch einen Hauch Puder darüber.

Wie wählt man die richtige Lippenstiftfarbe?

Meiner Meinung nach gibt es keine Regel dafür. Jede Frau kann jede Farbe tragen. Ich finde es wichtig, dass Frauen auch einmal etwas Neues ausprobieren. Dabei kommt es oft zu positiven Überraschungen. Der Almost Lipstick von Clinique arbeitet zum Beispiel mit der eigenen Lippenfarbe und lässt diese durchschimmern. So wird jede Farbe zu einem ganz individuellen Ton.

Was ist Ihr persönliches Clinique-Must-Have?

Eines meiner absoluten Lieblingsprodukte ist der Clinique Chubby Stick. Er verleiht den Lippen eine natürlich sanfte Farbe, klebt nicht, pflegt mit viel Feuchtigkeit und findet in jeder Handtasche Platz. Doch das Beste daran ist: Er lässt sich so einfach auftragen, dass man dazu nicht einmal einen Spiegel braucht.

Jenna 首先和媒体分享了今年夏天倩碧最有色彩与感官冲击的活力冰沙眼影和充满自由生活态度的差不多唇膏。这款全新冰沙质感的管状眼影创新加入了滋养成分，提供随画、连续八小时抗氧化、持久的眼部妆容。采用独特金属头设计，可以直接涂抹于眼睑，令上妆更平滑、更简单，同时加入了抗氧化成分，滋润、改善眼部肌肤，妆效持久不晕染。而差不多唇膏则是专为亚洲女性量身打造，从自然裸色、靓丽粉色到深紫色

兰色和艳丽红色，包括了 8 款性格鲜明的色泽，纯粹易搭，其中还含有多种养肤的滋润成分，能提供更比一般的唇膏更为持久自然的润泽效果。

就像倩碧一直倡导的女性自然简单的美感一样，Jenna 的理念也是要让女性变得更美丽，但不需要太多的化妆或者千篇一律的修饰。她觉得不管有没有化妆习惯的女人，都希望自己看起来像是没有化妆般完美，因此只要几个简单的单品，就能创造出一种自信闪耀的魅力才是最佳方式。比如你可以随意将活力冰沙眼影的色彩进行混搭，调配出属于自己的眼妆色彩，甚至还能把它当做唇膏涂抹，让妆容变得更加有趣，而最受大家欢迎的蜡笔小样，也同样可以进行色彩混搭，层层涂抹后，会呈现出每个人独有的唇色和倩丽的丰润质感。总之，大家可以充分发挥想象力，通过倩碧的彩妆品让你变得更加自信，自然而然地散发美丽。①

Wimperntusche nur für die unteren Wimpern: „Bottom Lash Mascara“, um 14 Euro, ab August bei uns erhältlich.

Die richtige Grundierung lässt den Lidschatten hier so intensiv wirken: streifen Sie etwas (nicht zu viel!) pinkfarbenen Cremeduschatten auf dem gesamten Lid und verblenden Sie ihn bis zur Braue. Auch unter das Lid, dicht an den Wimpernrand, einen Tüpfel Pink geben. Darüber, oben und unten, den Lila-Metallic-Lidschatten pinseln. Das Pink darf unter der Braue und entlang des unteren Wimpernwinkels leicht durchschimmern. Als Kajal im unteren Lid dunkelblauen Kajalstift auftragen. Etwas Concealer auf den Lippen verstreichen und mit beigefarbenem Lippenstift übermalen. Als Nougat am besten ein zurückhaltendes Beige-Rosé wählen.

En la universidad estudió psicología y decidió que ella aplicaría la terapia del color: «Cuando una persona está en mi silla, disfruto viendo su transformación: de repente se siente más erguida porque se ve a sí misma diferente». Su habilidad en disimular con pinceles y productos los pequeños defectos del rostro y la naturalidad de sus looks la han llevado a ser la favorita de modelos de pasarela y artistas de Hollywood. Sus trucos son sencillos pero muy rentables. ¿Un cutis muy fresco al natural y bajo los focos? «Pongo una capa de crema debajo de los polvos, queda sensacional a la vista y en las cámaras de los paparazzi!». Para quitarse unos años de encima, recomienda utilizar tonos suaves en los labios, como el coral, y mantener una textura fresca de piel aplicando la base «sólo donde haya desigualdades de coloración, no por toda la cara». La boca roja también la recomienda para todas las edades, «pero sólo si te sientes segura y pisas fuerte cuando la llevas». A las más jovencitas las anima a jugar y experimentar, «forma parte del proceso, es sólo maquillaje, se quita». Su labor en Clinique consistirá en desarrollar nuevos colores y técnicas de aplicación: «No será una revolución, ¡porque ahora no les va nada mal!», bromea.

EXCLUSIVO DESDE LONDRES

Clinique presentó a JENNA MENARD

La primera Global Colour Artist de la marca fue la protagonista de un glamoroso evento internacional donde se entrevistó con corresponsales de las principales revistas de América Latina, Asia y Medio Oriente.

Por: LORETO HERMAN, CORRESPONSAL

Jenna Menard es la primera Global Colour Artist de Clinique y la marca la presentó al mundo en un evento global que se realizó en varias etapas en la ciudad de Londres. Editoras de belleza y corresponsales principalmente de América Latina, Asia y Medio Oriente, tuvimos el privilegio de conocerla y compartir con altos ejecutivos de la marca. Todo se realizó de modo que las invitadas tuviéramos un recuerdo imborrable. El día del cocktail-presentación de Jenna Menard, llegó a mi casa una limusina enviada por Clinique para llevarme a la muy chic y modernista Galería Phillips de Pury, una de las más prestigiosas de arte moderno en

Londres, ubicada en el barrio de Victoria. Una hora antes había llegado, a través de un mensajero, un hermoso regalo acompañado de una cordial tarjeta del equipo global de marketing de la marca: "Esperamos que disfrute de esta velada. Aquí, un recuerdo del tiempo que pasó con nosotros". Era una bolsa de "goodies", como llaman en Londres a los regalos pequeños y finos: los más recientes lanzamientos de Clinique que consistían en su máscara de pestañas y los fabulosos "chubby sticks", revolucionarios lápices labiales con última tecnología para mantener los labios frescos, humectados y con el color adecuado para cada tez. Por supuesto, todo antialérgico. Y como toque especial, un enorme pañuelo de seda de la famosa casa Liberty, en blanco y azul, con un diseño muy moderno y floral del Union

Jack, la bandera británica. Cual celebridad llegó en mi limusina a la galería de arte cuyos grandes espacios estaban repletos de periodistas y ejecutivos de Clinique: en su mayoría hermosas mujeres elegantemente vestidas. Las amplias paredes blancas habían sido decoradas con sistemas audiovisuales, mostrando los diversos productos de la marca. Decenas de garzones nos ofrecían a probar diminutos carapés y otras tentaciones aún mayores: sombras para los ojos, labiales... la belleza de Clinique en bandeja. Al día siguiente, nuevamente chofer y gran limusina a mi puerta, esta vez para llevarme a la entrevista con Jenna Menard en una luminosa sala en el West End. Allí, la talentosa Global Colour Artist compartió con las corresponsales de América Latina su filosofía profesional: el maquillaje debe com-plementar la belleza natural de cada mujer. Jenna Menard triunfó en Nueva York gracias a su talento, habilidad y la pasión que pone en su trabajo. Ha realizado producciones para revistas, también trabajó en la famosa Fashion Week de esa ciudad y entre sus clientas se encuentran Kate Winslet, Uma Thurman y Sofia Coppola. En junio de 2011 debutó en el cargo que actualmente ocupa en Clinique, en donde trabajará en colaboración con el equipo científico que desarrolla los productos de la marca: ellos a cargo de las fórmulas y Jenna, aportando su perspectiva artística, su inspiración y conocimientos. Nos contó que a muy temprana edad comenzó a apreciar el poder de transformación de la mujer. Su madre era dueña de un salón de belleza en Pennsylvania y allí comenzó a darse cuenta cómo las clientas salían del lugar felices

y con más confianza en sí mismas gracias a sus nuevos "looks" en peinados. Intrigada por esta observación, la joven Menard llegó a la conclusión de que el maquillaje podría tener ese mismo poder extraordinario de transformar sutilmente a la mujer y complementar su belleza. Jenna nos habló también de la "Mujer Clinique", el concepto eje de la marca que se refiere justamente a la consumidora que visualiza como seguidora de sus productos: una mujer que no se maquilla en exceso, pero se ve siempre elegante y a tono con su personalidad. Nos dijo que ella identifica a la Mujer Clinique con su propia madre: siempre hermosa y elegante, sabía lo que le gustaba y le quedaba bien, y siempre fue leal a Clinique. Recuerda que como siempre vio esos productos en su casa, pensaba que eran los únicos que existían en el mundo.

"La Mujer Clinique es elegante y discreta, cuidadosa de su piel, sabe lo que quiere, lo que la hace sentirse regia", nos dijo, y agregó: "Cuando maquillo a una mujer, sé que ella quiere verse y sentirse estupenda, por eso yo quiero que, de algún modo, se convierta en la Mujer Clinique". Nos despedimos y recibimos otro lindo regalo, esta vez los productos favoritos de Jenna Menard en Clinique: la crema hidratante Moisture Surge Intense, el suero para los párpados All about Eyes Serum, la sombra para ojos Lid Smoothie 8 hr. eye colour, un "gloss" labial, un delineador y la nueva Bottom Lash Mascara con un minúsculo cepillo creado en Japón para las pestañas del párpado inferior, un producto muy nuevo sumamente práctico. La limusina y el chofer me esperaban para llevarme de regreso a casa. Una gentileza típicamente Clinique: refinamiento puro. ■

ELLE BEAUTY INSIDER

LENS CRAFTER

With flaw-blurring skills that could put Photoshop out of business, Jenna Menard has both Hollywood and the fashion world covered. By Brill Aboutaleb introduced her to his fashion-world colleagues, his celebrity fan club, and, most importantly, his just-wash-it-off philosophy of life: "He would always say things like, 'It's just makeup; it comes off. We can always change it,'" Menard says. "When someone tells me I do skin better than anyone, I still call him up to thank him."

What's the major difference between runway and red-carpet makeup?

For runway, it's a matter of looking good for 15 to 20 minutes, whereas for the red carpet it's a matter of hours. So, for example, using hard-to-remove waterproof mascara backstage on the models isn't fair to them, since they have to run from show to show. For the red carpet, I try to avoid anything with too much slip—any Vaseline-like or greasy product—which could travel on the face and end up in a spot where it's not supposed to be.

Has HD technology changed the way you approach celebrity skin?

My trick is layering cream under powder to create a look that is natural enough to the eye but just as stunning through the paparazzi lens. A cream blush topped with a powder blush in the same shade lets the natural texture of skin show through. And for dewy skin, I'll hit the top of the cheekbones, the bridge of the nose, and the bow of the lip with a liquid high-lighter and then follow with translucent powder above the brows, along the sides of the nose, and on the chin to get rid of extra shine. If you over-powder, just mist your face with a water spray or pat your skin with a damp sponge.

And for eyes?

There's something so simple that anyone can do to make the eyes look bigger and more awake. Use a shimmery shadow one shade lighter than your skin tone above the lash line, then load up on the mascara. It makes your lashes pop and really opens up the eyes.

Clinique is known for its three-step system, but I hear you think four are necessary?

If you wear foundation or concealer, or even if you just live in a city, you'll have a lot of build-up on your skin, which means you need to take off your makeup before you use cleanser. If you just throw face wash on and work it around, everything won't come off.

Clinique Black Honey has gotten more mentions in ELLE in the past 25 years than any other lipstick shade. What's the secret to its success?

It gives just enough color to show on every lip tone but doesn't make anyone feel uncomfortable when wearing it. It just looks like you've done something but not in an "Oh my gosh, that's so done" sort of way.

What Jenna Menard remembers most about her mother's basement hair salon in Philadelphia are the women who left "with a little hop in their step," says the NYC-based makeup artist, who was recently tapped to be Clinique's new global color artist. Although Menard graduated college with a psychology degree, she now practices color therapy on celebs including Kate Winslet, Sofia Coppola, and Uma Thurman: "The best part of makeup is just how good people feel in it." After an internship as a makeup assistant on the set of 2004's The Stepford Wives remake (a crash course in "corrective beauty," she says; "They were Stepford wives, so they had to look perfect"), Menard started an apprenticeship with makeup guru Dick Page, who

"I have a CLINIQUE Chubby Stick in my possession 24-7," Menard says—"The color is buildable, starting as a tinted balm and reaching a lipstick finish"; to create the "widest eyes ever," hit hard-to-reach inner corner lashes with CLINIQUE Bottom Lash mascara's microsize brush; CLINIQUE Cream Shaper For Eyes in Black Diamond is Menard's everyday essential; for "texture with little to no effort," Menard spritzes BUMBLE AND BUMBLE Surf Spray on her wet hair before air drying—"The grit helps me achieve that 'sleep-on' look."

simply more prone to arthritis. There are other types of faulty scaffolding besides my dysplasia. Many people have another abnormality called impingement: a bump on the ball or the socket that, in sports requiring lots of repeated crosswise kicks and mobility—gymnastics, ice skating, and soccer, for instance—can shear the cartilage down to where bone meets bone.

Fortunately, new strides in orthopedics aim to offset the development of both injury and arthritis in young athletes and ultimately reduce the need for surgery. Some hospital orthopedic departments have devised stretching regimens tailored around the knee to help girls prevent ACL trauma. For hips, aided by new arthroscopic techniques and cutting-edge imaging, doctors have begun to identify abnormalities in people who are bedeviled by premature pain. Now surgeons can repair the cartilage, remove the bony bumps, or fix dysplasia early on, so that the person can compete with a normal ball and socket.

One of the pioneers in identifying and correcting these deformities is Marc Philippon, M.D., who, as an orthopedic surgeon at the Steadman Philippon Research Institute in Vail, Colorado, has treated the hips of many elite Olympic and professional athletes, including gold medalists Julia Mancuso and Tara Lipinski. "In our generation, hopefully we'll be able to have an impact on joint preservation and reduce the number of people who need hip replacement at an early age." Surgery is an option, but so is finding ways to adapt to the unlucky anatomy. "If I had seen you when you were eighteen," Philippon says, "I might have said, 'If you want to keep this hip for the rest of your life, you need to focus more on biking, swimming, on stuff that maybe you can learn to like.'" In yoga, he advises stretching to the point of tension but not into pain—going for 70 degrees of flexion instead of 90.

I'm avoiding yoga for the moment because my other hip is running on empty. The surgery is an ordeal, and so is the recovery. Last time, I needed a blood transfusion, and when I left the hospital, I inched around with a walker, nauseated on painkillers, weepy off them, freaked out by the alien hardware that was fusing to my flesh. Most hip patients endure months of physical therapy and a grueling road to walking, driving, or climbing the stairs again. My doctor subscribed to the do-it-yourself method of rehab and prescribed a strength-training exercise and walking program I did at home. After six months, I felt almost as limber as a newborn. One more surgery on the other side, and my body, my life, and those power hips will be back where they belong—on the beach, walking strong. □

PHENOMENON

BB CREAMS

IF YOU DON'T ALREADY have a BB cream tucked inside your makeup bag, it's likely you will soon. First conceived by a German dermatologist as a panacea for sensitized post-procedure skin, the all-in-one "beauty balms"—equal parts tinted moisturizer, sunscreen, mattifier, anti-ager—made their way to South Korea in 2001, introduced by Dr. Jart, the popular skin-care brand directed by a collective of Korean dermatologists. The do-it-all BBs spread like wildfire, quickly dominating the beauty markets in Japan, Southeast Asia, and China. "If you go to a drugstore in Asia, you will barely see any foundation—we don't use it anymore," says Dr. Jart's Sena Kang. Finally, BBs are heading to the U.S., with brand-new introductions from Dior and Estée Lauder, Garnier, Boscia, 3Lab, and Dr. Brandt. Sensing the imminent demand, Sephora has devoted an entire section to them in their stores. "There's a lot in a BB cream that makes it different from just a tinted moisturizer, like the fact that you can conceal blemishes, soothe irritation, control oil and shine," says makeup artist Jenna Menard, who has been using Clinique's new Age Defense BB as a primer beneath foundation to give it better grip. "Everyone wants one product that does everything." —FIORELLA VALDESOLLO

COMEBACK

LIPSTICK LEGEND

Why Clinique's '90s breakthrough Black Honey still inspires fervent devotion.

MY FIRST LIPSTICK WAS MY MOTHER'S, and it was Clinique Black Honey. My mom is a natural beauty, a total foundation-phobe who subsists on just a bit of mascara and a lot of barely there lip color. When I was growing up, she never went anywhere without Clinique's unforgettable chrome tube, and there was a deep curve in the bullet (the lipstick itself) from ceaseless use.

Certain beauty products require no introduction: Crème de la Mer, Maybelline's Great Lash Mascara, Elizabeth Arden's Eight Hour Cream. Clinique's Black Honey belongs in that group. Its cult status is well deserved. The balmlike texture makes it soothing on the lips, and its raisin hue is subtle and flattering on virtually everyone, the sort of sheer shade that, should you be without a mirror, can be reapplied without risking disaster.

Lipstick has experienced a renaissance of sorts over the past few years. Whether or not this is related to the trying economic times, as the so-called "lipstick index" suggests, there has been a push to start wearing the product again. It was long a runner-up to gloss, but once the trend gained momentum even the most timid makeup users could be seen flaunting painted pouts. For spring, however, the palette is a bit more subdued, earthy almost, which means that the high-maintenance lip—richly pigmented and liner-requiring—is losing its cachet.

Clinique's latest add-ons to its Almost Lipstick line offer the ideal antidote. Each of the seven new variants of the classic Black Honey, from the berry-tinged Chic Honey to the hot pink Flirty Honey, is as wearable as the original. "Just like Black Honey, these new shades look amazing on everyone," Jenna Menard, Clinique's Global Colour Artist, says. "They're sheer, and they work with your natural lip tone to create a custom color."

I dutifully tested out the entire range, but, thanks to my mother's enduring influence, Black Honey is the shade I return to again and again. Now I too am never without that polished chrome tube.

Makes your mascara pop!

best trick ever:
SEXY LASHES!

We could listen to Clinique global colour artist Jenna Menard talk about makeup for hours, but her tip for making lashes pop is the greatest: "I like to dab a bit of light, shimmery shadow right on the middle of the lid, as if you had just pressed your pinkie finger there. Then, when you put on mascara or curl your lashes, your lashes stand out like crazy because you have a little bit of lightness behind them."

KATE WINSLET

The hottest beauty-insider secret? "Reversed black liner," says makeup artist Jenna Menard, who layered Winslet's inner lash lines with black pencil and liquid liner, leaving lids nearly naked with just a touch of pink shadow. "It gives nice definition without looking harsh." For a clean, even sweep, Menard recommends pulling your temples up while thinly sketching in the line. Use a pointed Q-tip to clean up any imperfections.
