Clockwise from top left:

- With its blue-green handle and antique and Damascus steel blade, this oyster knife is $200 at Coastal Custom Knives in Summerville, South Carolina, or coastalcustomknives.com.
- The required-look knife for this self-designed Heirloom Forged Oyster Knife is $250. Decorator's Gimbali Home, in Dallas, takes inspiration from oyster shells. It sells the oyster knife at its proceeds benefit the Oyster Festival in Galveston, Texas. heirloomforged.com.
- Zack Warrick and Nick Watson of Monks Knives in Charlottesville, Virginia, have teamed up with the folks at White Stone Oyster Company to create this knife's comfortable handle, which is made of cocobolo and has a Damascus steel blade at $175. monksknives.com.
- Richmond cutlery, based in Virginia, makes the "Join or Die" oyster knife. The handle is carved from a single piece of cocobolo wood and has a Damascus steel blade at $125. supergreen.com.

THE OPRAH MAGAZINE

love that!

MATT & NAT

AHEAD OF THE PACK

We're giving this sweet little knapsack from Matt & Nat the green light. The luxe-looking vegan leather material is known for its softness to animals, not even a dog can squeeze it. It feels like the real thing. Plus, the roomy inside (bank on enough space for a 13-inch laptop) is lined with material made solely from recycled plastic bottles (an average of 21 per bag). And who doesn't love a plethora of pockets? There's a grand total of five to stash a bouquet of essentials.

Boots

Lighter, drier models that will carry you from fall to winter — no matter the conditions.

BREAKTHROUGH

The Go-Anywhere Hiking Boot
$150 | Salomon.com
One of the most versatile boots we've ever tested, the Salomon XA Pro 3D has the technical guts to handle low-scale rock climbing, but the stability and comfort to be used as a casual boot. It's incredibly tough, with a reinforced toe cap, frame and frontcup that keeps your ankle support as secure as ever. The lacing system stays snug and secure, so your foot never feels cramped. Sticky rubber outsoles grip on scree and roots. A soft nubuck upper provides support for the ankle, while a Gore-Tex membrane keeps it water-tight but breathable.

STICKING IT
A supersticky compound in the outsole means your feet will stay steady even in inclement trail conditions.

Road Shoes

The best new pavement pounders, put to the test by real runners.

BREAKTHROUGH

Finally, a Shoe That Works for (Almost) Everyone
$249 | Asics.com
Generally speaking, lighter shoes are shunned by heavier runners, but these shoes are good for lighter runners, too. Asics Gel-Nimbus 15 received universal praise from testers — most of whom noted that finding a high-end road shoe that's cushioned, responsive, and stable in all sizes and abilities is close to impossible. And the mattress-like ride and the fact that it provides plenty of support if you're looking to up your mileage, start here.

FEELS SO GOOD
Asics placed three slabs of gel under the forefoot and heel, making one of the most comfortable rides we've ever tested.

Look What We Found! Dials with Style

WHAT CHIC WRISTS are wearing now: playful bracelets that let the watch face show gracefully, you know, if there's a wrist to be seen. 1. A wide band bracelet with a textured pattern, but isn't it DKNY, $46. 2. Flavio redefined: Exquisite, glowing silver cuff—an elegant version of the ordinary metal bracelet that has a diamond-rimmed dial, David Yurman. 3. A thin, flexible gold link bracelet with a built-in thermometer, a small digital readout that's great with beige, black, any neutral. Michael Kors, $35. 4. Gucci's celebrated horseshoe motif is transformed into a delicate sterling silver bangle with a mother-of-pearl face and a band of smaller disks in cool slate and white ceramic. For details, see page 124.

IN THE COUNTRY

Flights of Fancy

Every day now, more birds return to the trees, insects buzz in the garden and butterflies flutter about. Among the most welcome signs of spring's arrival, though, is John Derian's series of decoupage wall trays, created from 18th-century English bird prints. The New York City-based company reproduces the original prints, then hand cuts and hand glues each one behind a piece of glass. Felt or paper is then applied as a backing. $195 each. John Derian Company, 6 East 2nd Street, 212-477-3917. Bergdorf Goodman, NYC, 800-558-1855.

Great Pretenders

Persuasive paste diamonds. Fruit that invites a bite. Trees you can see through. Phony isn't necessarily baloney. Some copycats can definitely pass for real; others, frankly fake, are a way to have a bit of ironic fun.

IT'S CRYSTAL CLEAR that a petrified forest of nature-driven shapes links interior spaces. The organic forms, reproducing every beautiful whorl, knothole, and snap branch, are so real that crystal reflections, they move with any change in light. 1. & 2. ## BREAKFAST TIME

Those crucial minutes between taking a shower and heading for work tend to be the most hectic. What's key is to have a bright, cheerful clock to keep you and your family perked up. 1. This minimalist clock, by pioneering modernist George Nelson, is a reproduction of the ones of Isamu Noguchi and Buckminster Fuller. It's like a punctuation mark for your kitchen. Wegner, $265. 2. There's nothing cuter than this pared-down cuckoo clock. Antique Clocks, $1,200. 3. This one with a big red h has a playful irony that we could all use. Wegner, $225. 4. The pleasantly retro orange clock is small, so it's perfect for a nightstand or vanity instruments, $35. 5. This rainbow digital can be wall-mounted to keep you from missing a beat. Wegner, $60. 6. Do-it-yourself kit includes multicolor self-adhesive cubes you can stick up to any surface. Wegner, $20. 7. This buttery circle will melt even the morning blues. Alessi, $124. Cup and saucer, $12. Tulle, $12. French press, Bonjour. Juice glass and bowl, Nicole Farhi home.

WORK TIME

What you want is clarity, information, and nice, clean lines. These clocks have innovative shapes or juicy color. A playful design makes timekeeping a task less onerous.

1. This sunburst clock was originally designed by George Nelson in 1958. Its open construction allows the color of the wall to show through. Tiffany & Co., $725. 2. Sleek 1960s design (also by George Nelson), $125. 3. Get the temperature and barometric pressure along with the time. Ralph Lauren Home.

4. Reward yourself for a promotion with this jumboized digital clock. Tiffany & Co., $725. 5. Sleek 1960s design (also by George Nelson), $125. 6. For music with your coffee break, try a vintage-looking clock radio. Tivoli Audio, $200. 7. Oversize jumbled numbers on an orange square are a great way to wake you up. Slam, Dario Serrin for Nava Milano, $98. Jewel box with travel tray, Wardrobe, $125. 8. A sleek clock blotter and pen. Graphic Image.

Good Timing

We're all wound up about these chic new timepieces. Whether you're eating, sleeping, working, or flying off into the wild blue yonder, they'll ensure that your schedule is in good hands.

BEDTIME
Sweet dreams are your respite from the day's stress—so a clock that wakes you up painlessly is the ticket. LuciTime, $248. 2. This neat, super-compact alarm clock, shown at right, BAI, $28. 3. A square, silver-finish molded plastic clock that also charges your iPhone. Skark for Oregon Scientific, $63. 4. It not only tells time but charges your iPod and wakes you up painlessly at the time you choose. Cartier, $1,300. 5. This tiny alarm clock has an e-ink screen that's easy to read face inside. 6. A tiny "museum watch" dial clock, inspired by a long-gone board, is as sleek as it is functional. Eric Trine, $1,000. 7. ## Look What We Found!

The New Nudes

Pale and pretty ticklers that are perfect for everyday wear.

An unusual windup strap reveals a larger, suppler leather. Mercede, $195.

A delicate brass band and slender oval face look timeless. Elgin, $120.

A bold, masculine chronograph takes a look at the past in plated rose gold. Michel Kors, $350.

The pearlescent band looks gorgeous with every skin tone. Gianni Versace, $195.
